Description

There are few places in Texas where the legends of the old west and the landscapes that crafted them still combine to create a backdrop so stunning, so authentic, and so historic that yesterday becomes today and the Wild West still calls. Names like Whistler Mesa, Agua Fria Spring, Panther Draw, Horse Tank Draw, Black Ridge, Alamo Cesario Creek, Blackrock Draw, and Soda Spring Draw are names that still describe this historic ranch. It's also all about the water and the huge natural spring at the base of Agua Fria Mountain. Once the life blood of ancient cultures, today the crystal clear cool waters are distributed into a modern water system providing year-round water throughout the ranch. Located in the Chihuahuan Desert of Texas deep in the Big Bend Region, the ranch is comprised of almost the entire Agua Fria Mountain range with adjoining mid-lower elevation grasslands and scrubland of basin range topography between the Davis Mountains to the north, the Chisos Mountains to the south east, the Bofecillos Mountains and Solitarios to the West and Rio Grande River to the south.

Agua Fria Ranch is a working cattle and hunting ranch, with the historic Whistler Headquarters located adjacent to an amazing rock formation where one would expect Rooster Cogburn to come riding up out of the past to water his horse! The ranch and its network of roads and 21 water troughs is impressive and provide spectacular views of area mountains, canyons, and desert floors to combine into a mix of habitats.

Water

Agua Fria Spring is a prolific natural water feature located at the base of Agua Fria Mountain that is captured and distributed throughout the ranch. Water is gathered by a series of recently improved water tanks and pumps to high elevation storage and gravity piped and distributed into 21 water troughs and to the ranch improvements. This elaborate and modern water system allows for the wildlife to flourish and the cattle to distribute widely on the ranch. There are several dirt water tanks to hold summer rains.
